
Automotive Technologies Fund

The Automotive Technologies Program provides mechanics to virtually every dealership and repair garage in Yuba Community College District's eight-county service area. For several decades, this program has been under the able leadership of, first, Bob Barkhouse, and more currently, Mike Morse.

The Automotive Technologies Progress Fund was established to provide the Auto Tech program with supplies, equipment and tools they need to maintain their edge in providing the community with state-of-the-art mechanical personnel.

The Automotive Technologies Program is known for both its rigor and its high rate of placement. A gift to this program, either to the Progress Fund or in support of a scholarship, is money well invested.
