
Culinary Arts Program

The Culinary Arts Program (formerly Food Service Management) is the area's foremost school for teaching all aspects of cooking and restaurant operations. Under the direction of Chef Rick Prondzinski, students gain hands-on experience in catering to large groups, operating a restaurant, and providing tantalizing meals for regional special events.

The Culinary Arts program has had to purchase an array of new equipment over the years and has relied upon donor contributions to remain state-of-the-art. Non-cash equipment gifts, of high quality, can also be donated to Culinary Arts and, if appropriately documented, can be eligible for tax consideration.
