
Student Emergency Relief Fund

The Student Emergency Relief Fund has provided innumerable students with the capacity to continue in school in spite of short-term emergencies. This fund was established and generously supported by Sarah Harris, a now-retired staff member at Yuba College.

Funds from the Student Emergency Relief Fund have covered portions of unexpected medical expenses, provided students with short-term transportation assistance, given occasional book loans, and even provided temporary housing. Carefully monitored, the Student Services Relief Fund covers gaps in support that help keep students in the classroom.
