Isha S. Buis, RVT, a Yuba College Veterinary Technology Program graduate and an Oroville California native, has been employed by the Northwest SPCA for 15 years. Her positions there include: Head Shelter Technician, Humane Officer and Chief Medical Officer. Interests in veterinary medicine and technology include: shelter medicine, emergency and critical care, equine medicine and surgery as well as laboratory diagnostics and respiratory disease. Currently Isha instructs our VETT 56 (Shelter Medicine) course and she mentors our second year students through our summer “Boot Camp” program. Additionally Isha manages our Shelter Management Specialty option and trains Yuba College and Butte County ROP students in the fundamentals of shelter medicine. Mrs. Buis enjoys family outings (she has three sons), animals of all types (especially horses), music of all venues and reading in her spare time.
